HOW TO USE YOUR DIRECTORY

The 2011- 2012 Maine Manufacturing Directory is divided into five sections - Introduction, Alphabetical Section, Geographical Section, Product Section and the SIC-Product Index. These sections are tabbed and are separately paginated for convenience.

Introduction - In addition to an explanation of how to use the directory, the Introduction also contains supplemental reference information concerning commercial, informational and governmental services available in the State of Maine.

Alphabetical Section - This section of the directory contains an alphabetical listing of Maine firms. All listings contain the full data block. The following example illustrates the type of information characteristically provided for each listed firm:

Line 1—The name of the company.

Lines 2 and 3—Parent company's name and location, if applicable (if the company is a division or subsidiary of a parent company).

Lines 4, 5, 6—The mailing address of the company. The sequence is street name and number, P.O. Box number (or RR/HCR route and box numbers), and city/town (if all three elements are part of the mailing address). The county where the company is located is shown in the parentheses (two-letter county abbreviations list is found on page I-14).

Lines 7 and 8—The actual location of the company, if its location differs from the mailing address.

Line 9—The company's telephone number.

Line 10—The company's fax number.

Line 11—The company's toll free number.

Line 12—The company's e-mail address.

Line 13—The company's web site address.

Lines 14, 15, 16—The principal officers of the company.

Line 17—The company's average number of employees. Also the year the company was established.

Line 18—The approximate gross sales range of the company.

Line 19—SO Certification identification and if supplied, the level of certification.

Line 20—The plant's square footage.

Lines 21 and 22—Whether the company imports, exports. Also indicated are the countries to which the company exports.

Lines 23—Indicates if the manufacturer considers themselves a contract manufacturer.

Lines 24, 25, 26—The company's products and corresponding SIC (Standard Industrial Classification) numbers.

The above illustration represents the maximum amount of information that would be provided for a listed firm. Certain information elements are not applicable (e.g., parent firm affiliation, mail address different from actual location, etc.), the corresponding line will not appear on the listed information block.

Geographic Section—This section of the Maine Manufacturing Directory is useful for determining the scope and type of manufacturing activity within each Maine city or town, and for obtaining detailed information about that firm.

The Geographical Section is organized alphabetically by city and town without regard to county affiliation, and contains an alphabetical listing of manufacturing firms located within each city or town.

Product Section—This section of the Maine Manufacturing Directory is useful to identify Maine firms that produce a given product or product line. The section is arranged in numerical order according to 4-digit Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) codes. Under each 4-digit product code heading, Maine manufacturing establishments that produce products classified under that code are listed alphabetically by company name.

The information shown for each Maine firm listed in the Product Section is the same as that appears in the Alphabetical Section and the Geographical Section, namely the full data block and not just the firm identification. If a firm produces products classified under more than one SIC code, the firm listing and full data block are repeated under the appropriate numerical heading.

This section also contains, in its first few pages, a description of the types of establishments included within each Major Group (i.e., groupings of SIC codes at the broader 2-digit level) as defined in the "Standard Industrial Classification Manual, 1987" published by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget. These broad groups form the basis of the more precise 4-digit SIC codes assigned to products listed in the SIC/Product Index section and to products produced by Maine manufacturers.

SIC-Product Index—The last section of the directory contains an index that cross-references manufactured products to SIC codes. The index presents names of products arranged in alphabetical order along with the corresponding applicable 4-digit reader SIC code. This section is particularly helpful in conjunction with the previously described Product Section. For example, a reader interested in identifying Maine manufacturers of wooden household furniture would first use the SIC/Product Index section to determine that the appropriate code is SIC 2511, and then turn to the SIC 2511 listings in the Product Section to identify specific firms that manufacture this product.

NAIC Code Information—This section introduces the 2002 NAIC codes to our manufacturing directory. A product Description (SIC Code comparison to NAIC code is given, followed by tables of Major SIC Code to NAIC code comparisons.)

Then we have listed the companies alphabetically by their Major NAIC code listings. The full company information may then be viewed under the Alpha or Geo sections for more information on the individual companies.

We hope that this section helps our customers who have requested this information be included with our directories. All attempts have been made to identify the respective NAIC code. Please contact Tower Publishing with any change of information.
